‘아태 의학학술지 편집인협의회’ 발족

11개국 연구논문 접근성 높여...초대회장 함창곡 교수

아시아·태평양 지역 국가들의 의학학술지 정보를 공유할 수 있는 네트워크가 구축됐다.

한국·일본·호주 등 아태 지역 11개 국가 의학학술지 편집인들은 4·5일 서울 코엑스와 서울대에서 ‘아시아태평양 의학학술지 편집인협의회(Asia Pacific Association of Medical Journal Editors, APAME)’ 창립총회를 열었다.

이 협의회가 발족함에 따라 이 지역 의학 정보에 대한 접근이 한층 쉬워지게 됐다. 최근 보건 의학 정보가 빠르게 발전하고 이를 공유할 수 있는 기술도 업그레이드 되고 있으나, 아·태 지역

국가들이 미국 등의 의학학술지 정보 접근에서 배제되는 면이 있었고 선진국과 개발도상국 간 정보 격차가 점점 심화되는 문제점이 지적돼 왔다.

총회에서는 초대 회장에 함창곡 한양대 명예교수를, 사무총장에 서정욱 서울의대 교수를 선임했다. 6일에는 대한의사협회 회관에서 헌판식을 열었다.

함창곡 회장은 “아태 의학학술지 편집인협의회는 회원국 연구자들 사이의 커뮤니케이션과 정보 교환 및 협력에 주력할 예정”이라며 “특히 개도국이 밀집된 지역에서 사업을 많이 시행해 이들 국가들을 지원하고 참여를 활

협의회 참여국은 한국·일본·호주·싱가포르·중국·피지·말레이시아·몽골·파푸아뉴기니·필리

핀·베트남 등이며, 세계보건기구(WHO)가 자문·조정 역할을 맡는다.

Our first goal is to aggregate our regional research information to build a significant amount of data from national and regional resources.

Our second goal is to upgrade the quality of this information by circulating it for review by peers and to have it cited by our fellow researchers.

Our third and most important goal is to be aware of our own knowledge resources and exchange these resources to further improve work towards disease prevention, health protection and health for all.

The World Association of Medical Editors (WAME, pronounced "whammy!") is a voluntary association of editors from many countries who seek to foster international cooperation among editors of peer-reviewed medical journals.

WAME resources include WAME Policy Statements, a Syllabus for Editors, Resources for Editors, Ethics Consultation, and the listserv WAME Talk (also check out what's new).

Membership in WAME is free and open to all editors of peer-reviewed medical journals. WAME has more than 1380 members representing 872 journals from 90 countries (as of March 1, 2006).

WAME helps medical journal editors fulfill their responsibility to ensure that reports of medical research provide valid information in a form that is readily accessible by researchers, medical practitioners and others by providing educational resources and a forum for discussion of issues in research publication. In particular, WAME aims to assist editors in developing countries and editors of small journals, who often face difficulties obtaining high-quality manuscripts, may lack formal training in editing, and have limited finances and access to publication expertise.

About EMAME

The Eastern Mediterranean Association of Medical Editors is a non-governmental, non-partisan and non-profit organization whose mission is to support and promote medical journalism in the Eastern Mediterranean Region by fostering networking, education, discussion, and exchange of information and knowledge. The Association was established following the first and second regional conferences on medical journals, held in Cairo in 2003 and Riyadh in 2004, respectively.

The Association is closely affiliated to the World Health Organization, Regional Office for the Eastern Mediterranean, which hosts the EMAME website and member listserv. Cooperation with the World Association of Medical Editors (WAME) and the Forum for African Medical Editors (FAME) and other international associations in the field of medical journal publishing is sought and encouraged.

Memberships is open to editors of medical journals from Member States of the WHO Eastern Mediterranean Region. Associate membership is also available.

The specific objectives of the Association are to:

- Promote co-operation and communication between editors of medical journals in the region and throughout the world.
- Promote healthcare through the dissemination of high quality scientific medicine.
- Improve editorial standards and promote professionalism in medical editing through education, self-criticism and self-governance.

Editing around the World

Medical journal editors' association in the Western Pacific Region

Jeong-Wook Seo

Editor-in-chief, Basic and Applied Pathology; Secretary General, Asia Pacific Association of Medical Journal Editors (APAME); Director, Seoul National University Medical Library; Professor and Chairman, Dept. Pathology, Seoul National University College of Medicine, Korea; jwseo@snu.ac.kr

Editors of medical journals published in the Asia Pacific region established the Asia Pacific Association of Medical Journal Editors (APAME) on 5 May 2008.^{1,2} This organization aims to discuss roles of editors and peer reviewers, and ways to improve the quality and visibility of journals in the region. One practical aim was to facilitate the construction of a regional medical index, Western Pacific Region Index Medicus (WPRIM) of the Western Pacific Region of the World Health Organization (WHO).^{3,4} Moreover, editors would like to use this organization to promote inter-society and international exchange by supplying more opportunities for congresses, workshops, and cyber communication. We consider this establishment of APAME as new momentum for access to health information in this region and as a means of broadening the coverage of information resources and library services.^{1,5,6}

History of APAME

The Asia Pacific Science Editors Association (APSEA) was established in October 1995 in Singapore, and a general which currently hosts the regional indexes produced by the WHO Regional Offices in Africa, the Americas, the Eastern Mediterranean, and South-East Asia. WHO's Western Pacific Regional Office (WPRO) would like to create its own regional index medicus to be deployed alongside the other regional medical indexes in the Global Index Medicus portal as part of WPRO's contribution to the Global Health Library.⁴ In May 2005, the Regional Workshop of National Focal Point Librarians on the Global Health Library was convened in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and one of its objectives was "to identify the activities required to produce a regional index medicus and the necessary steps to produce a regional union list of medical periodicals".¹³ The workshop recommended that the scope or coverage and selection of the journals to be indexed for the regional medical index that was subsequently called the Western Pacific Region Index Medicus.

In January 2006, Jeong-Wook Seo and Charles P Raby had one month of intensive study in Manila to develop a workshop for the regional Index Medicus and the regional
